Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Richmond et al US Patent 5,067,964.

Richmond et al discloses an implant comprising two biocompatible materials having a first polymeric component and a second polymeric component wherein the chain length of one of the polymeric material is longer than the other because they are different materials (see col. 3, lines 36-42). However, Richmond et al does not disclose a polymeric material made of polytetrafluoroethylene or polyurethane.

At the time the invention was made, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to a person of ordinary skill in the art to modify the material property of the Richmond et al reference by having a polymeric component selected of polyacrylates, polyethylene, etc.. so it can have the chain length as discloses in the specification because Applicant has not disclosed that by having a polymeric component not made of polytetrafluoroethylene or polyurethane provides an advantage, is used for a particular purpose, or solves a stated problem. One of ordinary skill in the art, furthermore, would have expected Applicant's invention to perform equally well with the polytetrafluoroethylene or polyurethane material because the Richmond material would perform equally well.

Art Unit: 3738

Therefore, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify Richmond et al reference to obtain the invention as specified in claims 1 and 4.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2, 3, 5-14, 16-53 and 56-57 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 01/07/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The Applicant's representative has not disclosed that by having the structure limitations claimed in claim 1 provides an advantage and is used for a particular purpose. The Applicant's representative is narrowing the different material properties claimed in claim 4 so the Richmond reference does not read on claim 1. The Applicant's representative clearly discloses in the specification that the polymeric components can be made of polytetrafluoroethylene or polyurethane, therefore, the Examiner believes that the rejection is still proper.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
